ANANTARA ULUWATU, BALI, INDONESIA

Set on limestone cliffs on Bali's southern coast, Anantara Uluwatu is "as close to Eden as you can get", according to ELLE South Africa's Editor-in-Chief Emilie Gambade. Choose between suites with stellar sea views, duplex penthouses with floor-to-ceiling windows, or villas decked out with their own private pools, all perched above the aptly named Impossible Beach. There are other beaches nearby too, to suit all your surfing, swimming and sunbathing needs. With stunning sunsets seen from the rooftop restaurant (with 360° views of the Indian Ocean), treatments at the spa or even an elephant safari, Anantara will not let you down. There's a reason they call this the Island of the Gods, and by the end of your trip, you just might be able to see why.
